This project is a renovation of the third oldest building in Phoenix. Originally, this building was the Monroe School; it is now the Children’s Museum of Phoenix. This is a renovation of their art studio. The original slab was still present, but has a poorly placed topping.